BIO

Alison Miserendino is a euphoniumist with the Concert Band, The United States Air Force Band, Joint Base Anacostia-Bolling, Washington, D.C. A native of Burke, Virginia, her Air Force Career began in 2020.

Miserendino completed her Bachelor of Music Education degree in 2013 at The University of North Texas. She then went on to earn dual Masters Degrees in Music Education and Euphonium Performance at The University of North Texas. Her most influential teachers are Jennifer Cox, Roger Behrend, and Dr. Brian Bowman.

An accomplished soloist, Miserendino has received several international accolades. In 2010, she was the winner of The United States Air Force Band's own George S. Howard Young Artist Competition. She was runner up in the International Women's Brass Conference's Mock Audition competition in 2014, and in 2016 Miserendino was awarded a Bronze Medal in the Artist Division of the Leonard Falcone International Euphonium Competition.
